2020 Is Here ??

Everyone keeps telling me that it is 2020. My question is, what the hell happened to 10`9 and a few other years?

I wonder how many folks have already broken a new year's resolution?? I don't have to worry about that, as I never make any.

It is a good time to stop and take a look at what our thoughts are on different aspects of life. I think more people should take a closer look at such things as, self importance, greed, rudeness and self pity. Most everything else would fall into place, if these items were handled properly.

I remember as a kid hearing that money was the root of all evil. I was never sure about that as I noticed that people with money seemed to be happy. They could buy the things they wanted, take cool trips around the globe, not worry about the light bill or the grocery bill each month. But, most of all, if money didn't make them happy, they could get rid of it, but since none of them got rid of it, I assume it makes them happy.

This time of the year to me, is when I feel the most grateful, because it means I successfully made it thru another year and able to look forward to this next year. Guess that is what is called a good attitude. In my humble opinion that is the best one to have for a good life.

There is an old saying—"if you are given lemons, make lemonade". A line from an old song that I don't remember the name of—"accentuate the positive, eliminate the negative and don't listen to Mr. In Between".

Seems that songs and advice from years ago were mostly positive and upbeat. You could even understand them.

With that in mind, I hope you all have a great new year and thank you very much for your support. 2020 looks to be a wonderful year for all of us.

McGill News

Another old landmark of KCC is about to be covered for eternity. The black sand at the north end of the sands, or as we McGillite's used to label it, Kennecott Lake. Rio Tinto has leveled it out and is busy hauling soil from the pit south of the sewer ponds. I have heard that the plan is to plant winter wheat or other grains that will re-seed themselves. Then, it can be used for cattle pasture.

We had a lot of wind last week and one day when it was terrible there was a dust storm of great size, not as big as before, but it was nasty looking.

The new cell tower that looks like a water tank has been in operation for several months. I think it is Verizon. AT & T is just about gone from around here. A lot of people have only cell phones now. What's next??
